

IFM-SEI Study Session 2017 'Children on the move'

Call for trainers

Are you aged 18-35? Do you want to get more active in the educational work of IFM-SEI? Do you have experience working on the topics of child refugees, unaccompanied minors or children's rights?

IFM-SEI is looking for enthusiastic, motivated and experienced trainers to join an international team for our upcoming study session in partnership with the Council of Europe:

'Children on the move - how youth organisations can support young refugees and migrants'

Aim: To better understand the systemic causes for flight and migration in order for children and youth organisations to better support young refugees and migrants and include them in their work.

Objectives:

- To analyse flight and migration from a global perspective
- To understand the systemic reasons for flight and migration
- To learn more about the specific challenges of unaccompanied minors
- To share good practice of supporting young migrants and refugees, particularly unaccompanied minors
- To develop ideas on how youth organisations can support young migrants and refugees, particularly unaccompanied minors

Where and when: European Youth Centre, Strasbourg on 5-12 March 2017

Who: The study session is open to IFM-SEI member from Council of Europe member states and one person from each of the following countries: Colombia, Palestine, Indonesia and Senegal. This person can be a team member or participant, but not both. The Council of Europe covers all accommodation, board, travel and programme costs.

Role of the trainer:

- Attend a preparation meeting in Strasbourg (9-11 December 2016, arriving on the evening of the 9th and departing on the afternoon 11th)
- Be in regular communication with other team members, including through regular email communication and participation in virtual meetings
- Design the programme and methodology of the study session
- Prepare session outlines
- Deliver the study session as a team, with everyone taking responsibility for parts of the programme
- Evaluate the programme and provide an oral and/or written evaluation
- Support the participants in their learning and understanding

Please note that this is a voluntary position however all reasonable expenses will be reimbursed.
